Making magic

Wrapping up the summer reading program in style, the Romulus Public Library introduced local children to a duet of magicians dressed as clowns Aug. 16. During the summer, 178 young participants in the Reach for the Stars program read 4,210 books. 2 men charged in burning case

Nearly two months after 19-year-old Kristen Grauman was splashed with gasoline and set on fire along a deserted Romulus road, two suspects have been charged with attempted murder in the incident.

Grauman, who has been a patient at the University of Michigan Medical Center since the June 24 incident, remains in critical condition. Most of her body is covered with third-degree burns, according to officials.

Brownstown Township residents Vester Lee Mills, 24, and James Joseph Camilli, 39, were arraigned in Romulus 34th District Court Friday afternoon. A plea of not guilty was entered for the suspects, and bond was set at $500,000. Both await an Aug. 29 preliminary examination from Wayne County jail.

Camilli, according to police officials, was already imprisoned in connection with a breaking-and-entering incident in Brownstown Township.

Police officials obtained arrest warrants for Camilli and his son-in-law, Mills, Aug. 17.

Since the incident, the young woman has had nine skin graft operations and has lost nearly all of her right ear, family members said.

The night of the burning, Grauman was reportedly seen riding in Mill's 1978 Chevrolet automobile near Inkster Road, south of Eureka.

Some reports have indicated that Grauman, who was reportedly battling a "crack" cocaine addiction, may have been taking the men to a "crack house."

Friends come to rescue in accident

Todd Hammons, 19, told his mother he knew he was drowning seconds after he dove in a 20-foot swimming hole in Van Buren Township two weeks ago.

Apparently, the Romulus man "landed wrong" in the water, causing paralysis from the chest down.

Joan Hammons said she will always be grateful to her son's friends - Brian Farnum, 18, and Phillip Messer, 19 - who rescued Hammons when he did not surface from the water.

Hammons is now being treated at St. Joseph's Hospital, in Ann Arbor. Doctors say he is permanently paralyzed from the waist down, but because of his friends, Hammons is alive.

"It was just the fast thinking of the boys that saved him," Joan said.

Hammons was approximately 10 feet under water when Farnum reached him. Farnum grabbed Hammons' ankle and pulled him up and out of the water.

Labor Day celebration is planned for Romulus

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Continuing a 36-year tradition, members of St. Aloysius parish are busy planning the annual Labor Day weekend festival.

The celebration will begin Sept. 1 and conclude Sept. 4. It will be staged on the church grounds at Ozga and Neville roads.

Since the festival first began, it has been a major source of revenue for the private school operated by the parish. This year planners hope to collect $40,000.

Activities will be offered from 6 p.m. to midnight Sept. 1 and 2, noon to midnight Sept. 3 and noon to 9 p.m. Sept. 4.

Highlights include children's rides, bingo, arts and crafts, a white elephant sale, Las Vegas games, entertainment and a steady stream of food ranging from chicken and spaghetti dinners to home-made baked goods and munchies.

Participants will have several opportunities to win money at the festival. Raffle tickets will be sold for $5. At 9:30 p.m., Sept. 4, prizes of $5,000, $1,500 and $500 will be raffled. In addition, 50/50 tickets will be sold throughout the festival and winners will be selected hourly.

For those interested in Las Vegas games, the tent is open from 7 p.m. to midnight Sept. 1, 6 p.m. to midnight Sept. 2, 1 p.m. to midnight Sept. 3 and 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. Sept. 4.

Based on comments from past festivals, organizers promise a steady stream of polka music.

An Elvis Presley impersonator was offered one year, according to Tony LaRoche of the festival committee, and few people attended.

"Even if you don't know how to polka, you can learn in three seconds," he said.

All of the entertainment will be free, LaRoche said. The Klancnik Brothers will perform from 7 to 11 p.m., Sept. 1. Heart and Soul (music from the 1950s and 1960s) will be on stage from 7 to 11 p.m., Sept. 2. The Polka Towners are scheduled for 2 to 6 p.m., Sept. 3. Also Sept. 3, the Tempo Tones will perform from 7 to 11 p.m. Wrapping up the entertainment schedule is the Duane Malinowski Polka Jamboree - 1 to 9 p.m., Sept. 4.

Events such as bingo and arts and crafts displays will be offered continuously. The bingo tent is always packed, LaRoche said.

Especially well-loved are the two large dinners offered each year. Between 1,500 and 2,000 people are expected to partake of the chicken dinner Sept. 3. The price is $6 for adults and includes homemade chicken

Explosion rocks local business

Business was cut off early at Jo Jo's Party Store, 38830 Huron River Drive, in Romulus, Monday morning when an explosion ripped through the building.

No injuries were reported in the incident, which did not result in a fire, according to fire officials. Although the store was open for business at the time of the blast, only the operator of the liquor/grocery store was inside.

The explosion reportedly originated from an aisle near the checkout counter, according to reports.

Romulus police officials are investigating the possibility that an explosive device was placed in the store. An investigation, however, is continuing with police officers refusing to speculate further.

"We're trying to put everything together," said Det. John Smagner, one of the investigators.

Job bank program eases sting of layoffs

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Workers laid off from their jobs at General Motors are going to work in the community as recreation counselors, secretaries, repair workers and custodians.

Through a new program coordinated by General Motors in conjunction with the United Auto Workers put laid-off workers to use serving their communities.

The job bank connects laid off GM workers with nonprofit organizations that need help with odd jobs. Participants receive all the salary and benefits associated with their position and the organizations receive the manpower they need.

Participants are being placed throughout the area in churches, government offices, social service offices and school facilities. In Romulus, job bank workers are helping out in the Romulus recreation department, the Romulus Help

Homes: Area lawmakers hoping to make buying much easier

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

The executive committee of the Southeast Michigan Coalition of Governments endorsed state legislation Friday that is designed to improve home-ownership opportunities.

The two proposed pieces of legislation, sponsored by state Sen. Norman Shinkle (R-Lambertville) and state Rep. Nelson Saunders (D-Detroit), would increase the maximum permitted income for individuals to obtain home-improvement assistance from the Michigan State Housing Development Authority.

The bills also set the same limits for participation in the Michigan Mortgage Credit Certificate Program, which assists home buyers in obtaining money for down payments and mortgage payments.

The limit, under Shinkle's bill, would be approximately 115 percent of the state median income, or approximately $41,975.

The previous limit was 100 percent of the state median income, or approximately $36,500.

Limits in the bill apply to both new construction and existing homes.

The SEMCOG advisory council on community and economic development, which is chaired by Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally, recommended endorsement of the legislation, citing the fact that home prices have increased three times as quickly as income during the past 15 years.

The bill also proposes that income limits of the MSHDA Home Improvement Program be increased to 100 percent of the state median income.

In a report to the SEMCOG executive committee, McAnally urged approval as a method of improving home-ownership opportunities.

"The two major barriers to home purchase are accumulating the necessary down payment and affordable monthly mortgage payments," McAnally said. "As home prices increase, potential home buyers have to use more income to save for down payment and make monthly mortgage payments."

Officials of SEMCOG said support of the bills is consistent with previous SEMCOG policy, which has been to support efforts to increase home-ownership accessibility.

County aids homeowners' weatherization

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Now is the time to consider home weather-proofing, according to county officials, and some residents may be eligible for assistance.

Since 1979, the county has been providing free weather-proofing services for low-income and handicapped homeowners and renters. Eligibility is determined by federal guidelines. Those who apply now have a better chance of avoiding the "cold weather rush," Wayne County Weatherization Manager Harley Trumbull said.

During the summer months, he explained, the waiting period between application and actual work can be as short as two weeks for qualified county residents. During the winter, however, it could take as long as two or three months to have work completed.

Services available through this federally funded program include ceiling, wall, floor and water-heater insulation, as well as caulking and weatherstripping of leaky doors and windows. The work is done by private contractors, Trumbull said.

Approximately 23 area homes per month receive the weather-proofing services — all homes are subject to inspection by county officials.

Trumbull has been visiting area senior citizen centers and contacting community leaders in an effort to inform residents of the program.

"It's a continuous, ongoing process with the communities," he said.

Those who participate in this program, county officials claim, can cut their heating costs by 30 percent.

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara recently visited an Inkster couple who had their home insulated through the program last fall. The couple said their gas bill was cut from $65 to $45 during the winter.

"For retirees living on a fixed income, that is a significant advantage," McNamara said.

Communities covered by this program include Belleville, Canton Township, Inkster, Romulus, Wayne, Westland, Van Buren Township, Sumpter Township, Huron Township, Garden City, Plymouth and Plymouth Township.

Qualified applicants can learn more about the program by calling 326-9422.

Batmania

It didn't take long for the Batmania craze — inspired by the recent blockbuster motion picture Batman — to invade the area streets and shops. Several local residents have been sporting bat-like garb, including Jeremiah York (above), 10, of Wayne, whose bat-face faced everyone at Congressman William D. Ford's annual picnic recently, Lanetta BeLue (far left), of Wayne, who has an ear for Batmania, and Beth Miranda (left), of Belleville, who shows off her Batman t-shirt while at her post at Taco Bell, in Van Buren Township. Population data used to plot future

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

Population figures were released last week by the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments for the seven counties the group represents, including Wayne County.

The report was compiled by the SEMCOG DataCenter Advisory Council, which is chaired by Grosse Pointe Farms Councilwoman Gail Kaess.

The population figures were accompanied by estimates on occupied dwelling units and individuals per household for the areas studied.

Although figures will not be separated into individual municipalities for several weeks, the report showed the total population of Wayne County at 2,200,050. Outside the city of Detroit, the county population totalled 1,097,328.

The total county population showed a decrease of 85,390 from the same figures in 1980.

Outside Detroit, Wayne County population declined 48,952 from 1980.

The figures showed a total of 809,032 occupied dwelling units in Wayne County. Outside Detroit, the county had 400,887 occupied dwelling units.

The non-Detroit figure represented an increase of 10,206 from 1980 figures, but the total county figure dropped 15,137 because of a major decrease in Detroit.

Non-Detroit Wayne County showed an average of 2.7 individuals per household in 1987, while the figure was 2.6 in the city. The non-Detroit figure was a drop from the 1980 figure of 2.9, while Detroit fell from 2.7.

SEMCOG officials estimate that there are 4,634,236 people living in southeast Michigan, which includes the counties of Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Washtenaw, Monroe, St. Clair and Livingston.

The figure represents a decrease of 1.6 percent from 1980.

The report indicated that there are 1,675,103 occupied dwelling units in the southeast area, an increase of 3.2 percent, with an average of 2.7 individuals per household, which represents a slight drop from the 1980 change of 2.7.

The SEMCOG estimates are prepared using building-permit data and other information to estimate changes, according to Kaess.

She said SEMCOG methods have been refined in recent years so they are more comparable to those used by the United States Bureau of the Census.

Estimates for 1989 are expected to be released in the next several months, Kaess said.

FLOATERS

Have you ever noticed spots dancing before your eyes? Many of us have, and it's not all "in your head", they are in your eyes! Often when looking against a light background, such as the sky or a sheet of paper, we will see irregular grayish spots or lines which seem to "float" in space, and sway back and forth as our eyes move. Some people don't notice these at all, but others are affected to varying degrees, and sometimes the floaters are so dense they may obscure vision until they float out of the way.

These floaters are tiny particles of tissue suspended in the jelly-like fluid inside our eyes. Floaters are so common that they can be considered normal, just a nuisance, but they are not always harmless. If floaters have suddenly shown up or seem to be very dense, an eye examination is indicated to rule out problems which might require treatment. In some cases, floaters can be a sign of beginning retinal detachment, or of hemorrhages within the eye.

Hunter safety course is set

The Romulus Police Department will offer a safety course for beginning hunters from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Sept. 16 and 17 at the Romulus Recreation Center on Bibbins.

Advance registration at the police station is required for the class, which is offered free of charge. Participants must attend both days of classes. Class size will be approximately 35 people. No one under 12 years of age will be accepted.

Romulus officers have been offering this class annually for five years. Upon completion, participants receive a certificate and a card.

Car is stolen, found in 1 day

Within one day, a car was reported missing from the 8400 block of Warhman, in Romulus, and discovered in Detroit Aug. 16.

Romulus police officers have in custody a juvenile suspected of the theft. The suspect is related to the Romulus resident who reported the crime, police officials said.

Senior trips are scheduled

Trips to the state fair and the Detroit Zoo are among those set for Romulus senior citizens in upcoming weeks.

For bargain-hunters, a tour of area garage sales will be offered tomorrow.

The Romulus Senior Center van will travel to the state fair Aug. 28 for senior day.

Perry Drugs will sponsor another senior day at the Detroit Zoo Aug. 30. Room is available on the senior van.

A shopping trip to Manufacturers Mall, in Monroe, is planned for Sept. 1.

A more extensive trip is planned for Sept. 25. The senior center will offer a bus trip to Put-in-Bay. The $44 cost includes transportation, the round trip ferry boat to the island, a narrated tour, a visit to Perry National Monument, lunch and a tour of a local winery.

Local seniors take in prizes

Several Romulus senior citizens brought home the gold earlier this month as participants in the Downriver Senior Olympics.

In the bowling event, Louise Bowen won a gold medal. Other bowling champions are Mary Sprau, bronze; Elsie Robinson, silver and David Ries, silver.

In addition to bowling, Bowen won a gold medal for the golf-the-best-ball scramble and a bronze medal for the closest to the pin.

John Bowen was also a big winner during the event. He won a bronze medal for horseshoes, ping pong and the softball distance throw.

In the baking competition, Dot Icenogle won a bronze medal for her bread.

A total of 17 Romulus seniors attended this annual event.

Pro choice group meets

Members of the Downriver Voters for Choice organization will meet for the first time from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., Aug. 31 at the Romulus Recreation Center on Bibbins Street.

Area business people tour Romulus hotels

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Four Romulus hotels played host Aug. 16 to representatives of the Southern Wayne County Chamber of Commerce.

The hotel tours were staged for chamber members most likely to need hotel facilities, said Edward Clemente, administrative assistant for the chamber. The tour included a progressive dinner — appetizers at Signature Inn, salads at the Pickett Suites Inn, entree at the Radisson Hotel and dessert at the Merriman Executive Inn (formerly Travelodge).

"The purpose of this trip is for businesses in our area to be exposed to what is available for them, and afford them the opportunity to get acquainted, while seeing the hotel entertaining, lodging and meeting facilities," Clemente said.

The Southern Wayne County Chamber of Commerce represents 19 communities and has 900 members, most of which are from the downriver area. All of the hotels toured Wednesday are new members of the organization.

"We know there's a whole new slew of hotels that opened up here. Romulus is not as far away as people think. It's really downriver."

Other Romulus chamber members include Eagle Brand Snacks, Central Distributors (a beer distributor) and the Metro Airport Center.

"We know there's a whole new slew of hotels that opened up here," Clemente said. "Romulus is not as far away as people think. It's really downriver."

Approximately 50 people, including Mayor Beverly McAnally, attended the event. Representatives of the participating hotels said they were pleased with the exposure the tour provided.

"We enjoy opportunities like these," said Dave Higgins, regional manager of motel operations for Signature Inns. "It's an excellent sales tool."

The tour also benefits chamber members who were unaware of the facilities available for meetings and lodging or entertaining of clients and guests, Higgins said.

Cheryl Shepherd, representing the Pickett Suites Inn, said the tour was well organized by chamber representatives.

"I thought it went wonderfully. It was truly great to showcase the hotel," she said.

Romey Bruns, who was a host during the tour of the Radisson, said the tour offered them the opportunity to show off the food and service offered at the hotel.

Jeff Livingston, director of sales and marketing for the Merriman Executive Inn, said many of the people who participated in the tour were surprised to learn about the hotels and their dining facilities.

"In the long run, I think it will bring us some business," he said.

Candidates for city offices introduced themselves to residents Saturday night during a rally staged by Mayor Beverly McAnally.

The event, at Progressive

Present during the rally were city council candidates, Ellis Pennington, Randolph Gear, Brooker Edwards, David Atkins and Russel Lam-

Each of the candidates, including the mayor, spoke briefly about themselves.

Also on hand were Dan Bales

Additional candidates for the fall election include Zenobia Jones and Earl Champagne, for mayor; Noah Bergeron, Fred Junior Block, Jimmie Raspberry, William Wadsworth, George Carpenter, Elvera Fischer and John Lewkowicz, for city council.

Detective Sgt. Dan Snyder of the Romulus police department was on the investigative team handling the Grauman case. The suspects were located, he said, through interviews with area residents and witnesses. Grauman was unable to supply the police with information about her attackers, he said.

Mills had reportedly just returned to the state when he was arrested by police in Brownstown Township for traffic violations.

Earlie Coleman coordinates the GM workers for Wayne Metropolitan Community Services, which offers emergency shelter, job training, food and other grocery supplies for the needy. Coleman's department, information and referral services, has participated in the program since January and has had two to three workers during that time based on need. When the Head Start preschool program, offered through WMCS, begins again in the fall, Coleman expects four GM workers will be needed.

One of the workers, Sam Rohraff, is working as a custodian at the Romulus WMCS building on Beverly Road. In addition, Coleman said, he helps with the WMCS soup kitchen, washes dishes, trims shrubbery, collects donations and pitches in wherever extra help is needed.

Rohraff rarely misses a day of work, even when he is ill, Coleman said.

For Rohraff, the job bank has been a good deal, almost better than his original position as a utility person for GM.

"It's better than sitting in the plant," he said.

Rohraff started to work for WMCS seven months ago, two months after he had been laid off from his job of 23 years. He heard about the job bank from another GM worker.

"It's a good program. I do just about anything. Whatever needs to be done."

Former area police officer faces charges

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

A former Van Buren Township police commander is slated to appear in the Plymouth 35th District Court Sept. 1 to face charges connected with carrying a concealed weapon and false police and military identification.

Richard Debs, 52, of Westland, was charged by Canton Township police with carrying a concealed weapon. Debs could face other charges stemming from his possession of false police and military identification, police said.

Debs also was slated to appear in a California court on Aug. 22 for arraignment on three charges stemming from a June 23 arrest. He is accused of possession of an illegal weapon and carrying a loaded firearm in a car. Results of the California court action were not available at press time.

Debs, who served in 1981-82 as a part-time police commander, was arrested outside a Canton Township fast food restaurant on Ford Road. The police report stated that Debs was wearing a blue shirt with the word "police" imprinted on it, along with a patch that read "Michigan Police."

Officers said Debs told them he had reserve status with the Van Buren Township police department, but when officers checked his story, they found that he is not presently employed by the township and should not have been carrying the identification.

The report said Debs was found to be carrying a .32 caliber, semiautomatic handgun and a knife blade. He also had a Van Buren police identification badge and a military identification card. After impounding Debs' car, according to police reports, officers found a Wayne County Sheriff's badge and cap, shotgun shells, police scanners and a portable police flasher.

When questioned about the Canton Township incident, Van Buren Township Police Chief Joseph Davies said he was "shocked" that Debs was still carrying identification from his department.

"I find it, I guess, appalling, that after all these years that there's still identification floating around out there that we don't know about," Davies said.

The identification carried by Debs bore the signature of a township clerk who served prior to the early 1980s, Davies was told.

The Van Buren police chief said the department has changed its identification system in recent years. Cards are numbered and very carefully kept track of today, Davies said.

Anthony Shannon, director of training and development for the Wayne County Sheriff's Department speculated that the badge in Debs' car may have been one of the type which has not been used since 1982. Shannon said the department had no knowledge of how Debs would obtain a badge or other sheriff's department identification.

Shannon acknowledged that Debs has a long history of similar violations.

Welcome back!

Dear Reader:

During the next few days, students and parents will be preparing for the new school year. Members of the staff of The Associated Newspapers have been preparing, as well. Today, we launch our 1989-90 school-news page. This will be the second year we have offered a complete page of school and student news. We hope it will be both fun and informative to our readers.

Each week, we will publish stories featuring outstanding students, photographs of school events and a column featuring student views.

The school pages are provided to give hard-working students the credit that they deserve. Thus, students will be the focus of the Associated Newspapers school page.

We look forward to visiting all of the schools during the year and to meeting many of the dedicated people who work tirelessly for young people.

We also look forward to receiving your comments and suggestions concerning the school-news page. We want teachers, administrators, parents and students to have a hand in creating this page each week.

If you have story suggestions or comments regarding the school-news page, please call me at 729-4000.

SCHOOL NEWS DIGEST

Scholarship funds are available

Officials of the U.S. Air Force are promoting a new scholarship program worth up to $50,000 for high school students wishing to pursue a bachelor's degree in nursing.

Air Force ROTC scholarships pay tuition and other financial benefits at some colleges and universities. Scholarship recipients receive a non-taxable monthly stipend of $100 during the school year.

For more information, call 1-800-IGO-USAF.

Preschoolers will register

The SPARKEY preschool program in the Wayne-Westland school district will be open to registrations from non-residents beginning Sept. 5.

Two and three half-day programs are available at the following locations: Stottlmyer, Hoover, Madison and Hicks elementary schools.

For more information, call 595-2476 or 595-2670.

Health center to open this year

A teen health center will be established this school year at the Romulus Senior High School.

The health center is the product of a year-long study of student health needs in the district.

The center is slated to open in January.

School news is needed

News of student activities and events is welcome at The Romulus Roman.

Cheerleaders earn $500 for camp

In order to collect money to attend a summer camp for cheerleaders next year, the Romulus high school varsity squad recently staged a car wash for the community.

Approximately $500 was collected. The car wash was staged at Denny's restaurant on Middlebelt. Cheerleader Kim Doss extended thanks to Hilario Trevino, of the restaurant, for providing the girls with beverages and extra help.

Cookie company is selected

Members of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council have selected ABC Interbake Inc. as the 1990 supplier of Girl Scout cookies.

The Virginia company will supply six varieties of cookies, including lemon pastry cremes, peanut butter patties, shortbread, thin mints, peanut butter sandwich, caramel delites and golden yangles.

The Girl Scout cookie-selling season is expected to begin soon.

Shelter offers teen services

The Counterpoint Runaway Shelter, in Inkster, offers a place to stay for troubled teens.

One of many services provided by the shelter is a 24-hour information referral service hotline. The phone number is 563-5005.

Computer issued to every teacher

A report issued recently by the National Education Association calls for schools to install a computer and provide adequate software at every teacher's desk by 1991.

The reports reflects the NEA belief that schools must be restructured to help the United States compete successfully in the global information-based economy.

Some local school officials said the report is too optimistic and that it is unlikely that such a goal can be achieved in such a short time in their districts.

Watch out for kids

Local police officials are warning motorists to be extra alert, as school children make their return to the classrooms.

The speed limit is reduced in school zones, and the areas will be heavily patrolled by police officers throughout the school year.

In addition, most schools will have safety patrols on guard, helping classmates to cross the street. Police officials advice motorists to watch closely for the guards and to heed their instructions to stop.

Immunizations are a must

Local school officials are urging parents to ensure that their children have the proper immunizations before returning to school.

Students have until December to comply with health department immunization requirements. But, officials, said it is best to comply earlier.

A measles outbreak near the end of last school year is a source of concerns for school officials. Students can receive the proper immunization for measles at a local health department office free of charge.

Asbestos is now mandate

During the 1989-90 school year, school officials will operate within federal guidelines to remove hazardous asbestos from buildings.

Area school districts have already issued plans for removal of the substance believed to cause lung diseases. Many asbestos-removal projects are already completed.

Each school district is mandated to appoint one person to oversee the process of removal or containment of the substance.

Setting up shop Kindergarten teacher seeks involved parents

By FLORENCE MEEKS

Kathy Kudra spent most of Friday morning decorating her new kindergarten classroom at Halecreek Elementary School.

For the veteran teacher, her new assignment at Halecreek is her fifth move within the Romulus district since 1986. As a kindergarten teacher, she is often transferred according to student demand.

This move, however, was necessitated by the closing of Hayti Elementary School, her last assignment. Kudra is joining a large group of her former co-workers in this move.

"That's better for the children. It's nice to have a familiar face," she said.

Kudra said she is looking forward to the upcoming school year, which begins Sept. 6.

"Romulus teachers and principals make new people feel welcome," she said. "I was very happy to have the opportunity to teach kindergarten again."

Also important to Kudra is the strong relationships she anticipates with parents of her students.

"I really believe in parent involvement. I have an open-door policy," she said.

While at Hayti, Kudra helped orchestrate a volunteer program for parents. At Halecreek, she said, parents are already quite active with their children's education. She said she feels lucky to go to a school like that.

Already, Kudra is planning to contact parents of her newest group of students to invite them to participate in the classroom.

"The kindergarten teacher has a really important role," she said. "We want the parents and children to know this is a good place to be...I will be contacting as many parents as I can before school starts."

Kindergarten, Kudra added, should be a place for children to feel good about themselves.

Meanwhile, Kudra's room is taking shape with shelves filled with blocks, puzzles and beads in bright primary colors. A display of seashells adorns one wall, irresistible to the curious kindergartener.

The picture will not be complete, Kudra insists, until her new children arrive.

4,700 students are expected on the 1st day

Approximately 4,700 students are expected to raid Romulus school hallways next week, according to Terrel LeCesne, assistant superintendent.

Teaching that group will be 212 instructors. That figure is down from last year when the district employed 275 teachers, LeCesne said.

When the students pack into their classrooms for the first day of school Sept. 6—a half day—they will be distributed among five elementary schools, a high school and a junior high school. These include Barth, Cory, Halecreek, Merriman, Wick, Romulus Senior High School and Romulus Junior High School.

The district also provides an adult education program, directed by William Murphy.

Two buildings in use last year, Hayti Elementary School and South Junior High School, were closed in June. Hayti was closed due to declining student enrollments. South had housed the Beacon Day Treatment Center, a program for emotionally impaired students from numerous communities.

An in-formula district, Romulus Community Schools receives state aid based upon student enrollment. This year, approximately $4,100.13 will be spent per student.

In addition to Romulus Community Schools, Romulus residents are served by one private school, St. Aloysius.

Schools net much-needed repairs

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus school officials have tackled several repair projects this summer to prepare school facilities for students next week.

Asbestos removal took place in several buildings including Merriman Elementary School and in Romulus Senior High School. These projects, along with the installation of new ceiling tiles, cost $100,000.

Still in the works is the installation of underground fuel tanks for the bus fleet. The work is expected to cost $58,000.

Tying in with that project, the district purchased 10 new General Motors diesel buses. The $320,000-purchase will be financed during a five-year period.

In addition, the paving of school bus parking lots near the district administrative building was approved by the board of education Aug. 14 on the grounds it can be completed before Labor Day. An $89,000 price tag is attached to this project.

Finally, an elevator has been installed in Romulus Senior High School. Intended for handicapped students, the $58,000 elevator was funded through a grant to the district.

On a smaller scale, school lockers, halls and walls have been painted this summer by a staff of 75 student youth corps workers. The youths were also responsible for cutting and spraying weeds throughout the district.

Joel Carr, assistant superintendent for finance and operations, said this has been an average summer in terms of repair projects for the district. "In the last three or four years we've been doing quite a bit," he said.

County lawmakers optimistic about new posts

Beard nets prestigious appointment

By BARBARA WILSON
ANP News Editor

Her selection as chairwoman of one of the most prestigious Wayne County Commission committees was a surprise to local county Commissioner Kay Beard (D-Inkster).

"That one really surprised me," Beard said. "It's very nice to be asked to head one of the major committees."

The 15-member Wayne County Board of Commissioners was reorganized after new commission Chairman Arthur Blackwell (D-Detroit) took the helm of the group. Blackwell replaced former county Commission Chairman Arthur Carter (D-Detroit), who resigned from the board to accept a job with the Detroit Public Schools.

Beard, recently named outstanding county commissioner of the year, was appointed chairwoman of the audit committee. She had previously served on the ways and means committee.

"I didn't jump on the offer because I had waited to get back on the ways and means committee," Beard said. "I really like it there."

Last year, Beard was not named as a member of the ways and means committee. She was looking forward to returning to the group, which sets budget priorities for the county.

The county charter requires that commissioners serve on only one of the two major committees - audit or ways and means.

Although the appointment was a surprise to Beard and was met with mixed feelings, Beard said she looks forward to making the committee more instrumental in policy-making and more proactive than it has been in the past.

Members of the audit committee are responsible for examining the outcome of county audits for previous years. Members have little input into current spending, Beard said.

"The committee has potential, but it's never been taken advantage of," Beard said.

Beard is hoping for an expanded role for the audit committee. A method for making recommendations for ordinances will be explored, she said.

"We just need to get it organized and moving in the right direction," Beard explained.

Committee members will also discuss the potential for a countywide system of user fees. Currently, officials from each county department set their own guidelines.

Mack is now member of 4 committees

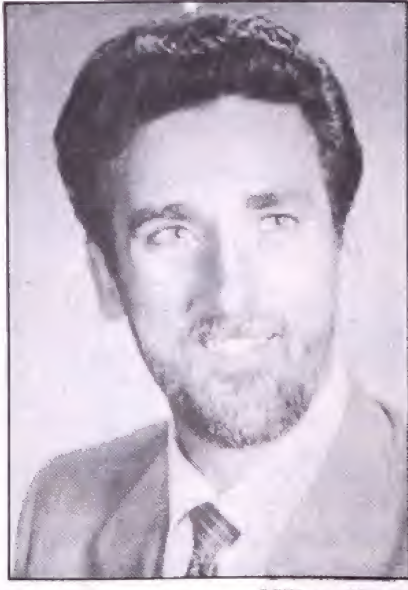

By TERRY JACOBY
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne County Commissioner Milton Mack is going to be a busy man for the next year, but he isn't complaining. In fact, the former Wayne city councilman is excited about the new responsibilities and challenges he faces.

Mack, a county commissioner since 1983, was recently appointed to the committees on administration and rules; roads, airports and public services; and health and human services.

Mack was also selected as chairman of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments. A former vice-chairman and a member of the SEMCOG executive committee for the past 10 years, Mack will serve a one-year term focusing attention on environmental issues.

"I'm pleased with where I am right now in my career," said Mack, a partner for 14 years in the law firm of Tucker, Bourber and Mack. "There are some issues that I'd like to bring up in both the committees and in SEMCOG. I am looking forward to accomplishing some goals."

Milton Mack

Mack represents the 11th District of Wayne County, which includes Wayne, Belleville, Romulus and Canton Township. As a new member on the committee of roads, airports and public services, Mack will address issues that are very much on the minds of residents in Western Wayne County.

The two areas he will focus on first are improvements in the solid-waste program and the expansion of both Detroit Metropolitan Airport and Willow Run Airport.

"We have to have a solid-waste program that is environmentally sound and still promotes economic growth," he said.

"The expansion at Metro Airport is going to include two new runways, a new terminal and the addition of a south entrance off I-275. How this occurs is going to be very important to the people of Western Wayne County, and I intend to keep a close eye on the project," Mack said.

As a member of the committee on administration and rules, Mack hopes to deal with the "big picture."

"I'd like to see the commission become more efficient in the processing of its business," Mack said.

Mack, who entered politics in 1977, believes "the 1990s is the decade of the environment."

Inconsistencies and cutbacks in veterans services will be addressed by a new committee recently established by members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Committee members, led by Commissioner Kay Beard (D-Inkster), will focus on health benefits for veterans. The group will be aided by members of local veterans' organizations and the public.

"I didn't understand the terrible things that were happening in veterans' services until it happened to my husband," Beard explained.

Beard's husband, a veteran, has been ill for nearly two years and has encountered problems with the Veterans Administration in obtaining benefits.

"We're sending money overseas to help other countries.

We're spending money on pie-in-the-sky arms systems. But we're dumping on our veterans," Beard said. "When they were serving this country, they were told veterans' services would be there for them. Now where are they?"

The veterans' services committee was first proposed during the spring. Difficulty in organizing the committee and the lull during the summer months postponed the official start of the group until this month.

Members of the committee met for the first time two weeks ago. A public hearing is scheduled for citizens' input in October, Beard said.

"The charge of the committee is to learn what impact changes in services have in Wayne County," Beard said.

The three members of the committee will be anxious to hear from veterans concerning their problems at the public hearing, Beard said. Leaders of local veterans organizations have already met with Beard to discuss their concerns.

Cutbacks in federal funding of veterans' services, Beard said, are leaving more of the responsibility for veterans' care at the door of local officials.

"I have experienced my own horror stories (in this area)," Beard said. "I was stunned at the insensitivity of the people and the lack of planning."

When Beard's husband was to be transferred to another location, Beard learned less than 24 hours in advance that veterans' benefits would not fund the cost of an ambulance or the first month at the new facility.

"This is something the public needs to know about," Beard said. "It needs to be told over and over."

A date has not been formally set for the public hearing, but it is expected to be staged on a Sunday afternoon in October.

LOCAL NEWS DIGEST

County lawmakers named to groups

Local members of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners fared well when new committee appointments were announced Aug. 15.

Commissioners Milton Mack (D-Wayne) and Kay Beard (D-Inkster) received strong appointments from new chairman Arthur Blackwell (D-Detroit). Mack has called the Blackwell more receptive to the concerns of the suburbs.

"It represents modest improvements in terms of suburban representation," Mack said.

Mack was appointed to the committees on administration and rules; roads, airports and public services; and health and human services.

Beard was appointed chairwoman of the audit committee, and was also named to the committee on health and human services. In addition, Beard was named to chair the special committee on veterans' services, and was named vice chairwoman of the special committee on maintenance and use of county buildings.

Mack was encouraged by his appointments. He said he has been receiving political punishment since 1986, when he led the movement to eliminate the position of Wayne County Drain Commissioner Clarence Youngblood.

"Ever since Clarence Youngblood, I have not had very good committee assignments," Mack said.

Supporters of Youngblood on the commission were upset with Mack's position, but Mack said he would not change what he did.

"I don't for a minute regret what I did," Mack said. "I think it was one of the most significant things I've done on the commission. This was one of the most powerful positions in the county, and the taxpayers were being ripped off left and right."

Local leaders support gas tax

Members of the executive committee of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments voted Friday to support an increase in the state gasoline tax.

The action was taken to support the notion that the extra state revenue would help the state department of transportation make needed road improvements.

The resolution approved by SEMCOG does not call for a specific level of increase, but urges the state legislature to take "quick action" on a "significant" increase in the gasoline tax.

The gasoline-tax increase is currently under consideration in the state House of Representatives.

Policy would fund drug education

Wayne County officials hope to develop a policy that would allow the use of drug forfeiture money for anti-drug programs.

Drug forfeiture money is money seized by police officers during drug arrests. Currently, the money is used strictly for law enforcement. Common uses have been the purchase of new squad cars, weapons or officer training.

Now, the county committee on audit is attempting to formulate policy that would target anti-drug programs for this money. Possible uses would be education or rehabilitation programs. Planning for this program is still in the early stages, county officials said.

Hearing set for hazardous rails

Recent train derailments in Freeland and Highland Township have prompted State Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton Township) to schedule a public hearing on rail safety at 9:30 a.m. Sept. 11 at the Wayne City Hall, 3355 S. Wayne Road.

The two incidents of hazardous material spills, caused by the derailments, and the potential dangers posed by the "Death Train" and other rail shippers of dangerous chemicals will be the topic of the hearing.

Kosteva, who chaired the House Subcommittee on Rail Safety in 1988, will attend.

Daily Games have been a major factor in the success of the Michigan Lottery since 1977. As a result, many readers have expressed interest in learning more about them.

Q. When Did These Games Start In Michigan?

A. The Daily 3 Game began on July 6, 1977, and the Daily 4 on October 4, 1981.

Q. Are There A Lot Of Winners?

A. Both games have thousands of winners on each of the six weekly drawing nights. There have been more than 15 million winners in the Daily 3, for example. Over one million of these occurred during the first nine months of the current fiscal year.

Q. How Much Can Be Won?

A. A single wager in the Daily 3 can win up to $500 depending on whether the wager is straight, boxed or a combination. The Daily 4 has a $5,000 top prize. Of course, players holding a number of tickets with the winning number collect duplicate prizes.

Q. How Do I Collect If I Win?

A. Retailers selling these games can pay all prizes up to $600 immediately after the drawings are completed at 7:30 each night. Larger amounts can be collected Monday through Friday at any Lottery regional office.

Q. If Players Get Lucky, Couldn't The Prize Total Be More Than The Amount Played?

A. Yes. Between the two Daily Games, this has happened about 48 times in each of the last several years. The Lottery pays the full amount no matter how much is won.

Q. What's Been The Record Payout So Far?

A. On June 10, 1986, the Daily 3 paid out $4,965,980 on the number 123. This was equal to 489 percent of the amount played that day.

Q. What's The Daily 4 Record?

A. On October 15, 1986, the Daily 4 number, 1028, awarded $2,757,908, or 668 percent of the amount played.

Q. What Numbers Can I Play?

A. In the Daily 3, any number from 000 to 999, and in the Daily 4, 0000 through 9999. Your retailer can also give you an "Easy Pick" in which the Lottery computer makes a random number selection for you.

Q. Can I See The Drawings?

A. Live Daily 3 and 4 drawings are now telecast on a nine-station TV network on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday at 7:29 p.m. and the results are announced on Wednesdays during the Super Lotto drawing. On Saturday nights, the Daily 3 and 4 drawings are conducted live during the Fame & Fortune show, between 7:30-8:00 p.m. The live drawings are also heard on 11 radio stations around the state.

Q. The Drawing Equipment Looks New. Is It?

A. New Daily game drawing machines, similar to those used for Zinger drawings, were just introduced on July 24, 1989. This permits live drawings of both the Daily 3 and 4 to be seen and heard in the one-minute time slot formerly used by the Daily 3 drawing.

For submitting the first question leading to this column, Therese Newcomb of Roseville will receive 50 "Fame & Fortune" tickets. Note: When duplicate questions are received, that with the earliest date stamp upon arrival at Lottery Central wins. In case of a tie, the winner is selected by random drawing.

If you have a question not yet covered in these monthly columns, send it to "Winners Circle," Michigan Lottery, P.O. Box 38077, Lansing, MI 48909.

Rouge River: Congressman criticizes permit delays

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Delays in the development of a prototype storm-water permit for the Rouge River is becoming a source of irritation for officials in Washington.

Sen. Carl Levin (D-Detroit) recently attempted to speed up progress on the project through a letter to William Reilly of the Environmental Protection Agency.

"...two years after the initial work assignment, no written product has yet been delivered by the contractor and no discernable program yet exists for Rouge River storm-water permits," he wrote.

The Rouge River was chosen for the project in 1987 because

— Carl Levin
U.S. senator

it is considered an area with storm-water problems, according to federal officials. The project was to be directed by the EPA Great Lakes National Program Office. Language developed for storm-water permits would be used by the EPA and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources. The project was to include an evaluation of the legal grounds for management of stormwater, an assessment of the best practices to control stormwater and a management program plan. The first step was a study and evaluation of storm-water discharges to the Rouge River.

Two months after a contractor was commissioned for the project, however, he reported his study was inadequate to develop model language. He requested a revised work assignment from the EPA.

Apparently, EPA officials postponed modifications to the work assignment for more than a year.

Levin first asked about the project in May 1989, as part of an inquiry for a Senate committee concerned with water quality problems in the Great Lakes.

In June, EPA officials informed Levin that a revised assignment was completed and work on the Rouge project was under way. He was told the project would be completed in October. A copy of the revised work assignment, however, stated three months would be needed to complete the project.

In addition, the assignment stated two segments of the study had been due in May and June.

When the senator's staff asked about the Rouge project in July, they were told the studies had not been completed and the entire project had been transferred to EPA headquarters.

"I am troubled by the history of inaction and lack of meaningful progress associated with this project," Levin said. "And I am concerned that the transfer to EPA headquarters may cause further delays."

Levin requested that officials with the Great Lakes program supply him with a clarification and explanation of what work has been completed on the Rouge River to date, what steps have been or will be taken to ensure the contractor complies with work assignments, why the project was transferred and when the model storm-water permit language will be completed.

Although the information was due Friday, the Levin continues to wait for a reply.

6 ways to make the area 'greater' OK'd

By DANIEL CALABRESE
ANP Staff Writer

The executive committee of the Southeast Michigan Coalition of Governments voted Friday to approve the economic-growth strategies of the Greater Detroit Economic Development Group.

The GDEDG, which works to promote the Detroit area as a world technology center, has outlined a series of six strategies to bring greater economic growth to the area.

John Amberger, executive director of SEMCOG, predicted an "uneasy alliance" between the two groups, because SEMCOG representatives outside the Detroit area have expressed concern that the strategies favor Detroit too strongly.

SEMCOG is composed of county and municipal government officials from Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, St. Clair, Livingston, Washtenaw and Monroe counties.

The six GDEDG strategies adopted by SEMCOG include the following:

- Encourage economic development and infrastructure investments in areas that are presently served by basic or have basic infrastructure under development with the officially adopted SEMCOG sewer service area. Focus these efforts on areas characterized as having underutilized infrastructures.
- Encourage existing economic base industries to remain and reinvest at their present locations.
- Support the development of regional transportation and road systems which complement each other and provide for travel to and from work and the movement of goods.

- Support urban and suburban residential neighborhoods and community facilities in a balanced and competitive regional economy.
- Support the type of infrastructure investments in rural areas that promote residential and related town center land uses, which enhance long-term stability and discourage urban sprawl.
- Recognize and respect the rights of cities, villages and townships to determine their destinies and manage their growth for the benefit of their residents.

Representatives of the four "perimeter" counties — St. Clair, Livingston, Washtenaw and Monroe — feel somewhat slighted by the GDEDG recommendations, according to Amberger, because they see them as favoring the tri-county area.

"Everyone who's not in the target area feels left out," Amberger said.

But he said such feelings are not uncommon, and that they even happen between different areas of the same county. In Oakland County, he said, communities such as Southfield and Hazel Park are currently upset because those in the northern part of the county are receiving more road funds.

But Amberger acknowledged that the approaches of the GDEDG and SEMCOG are fundamentally different.

"(The directors of GDEDG) are not planners," Amberger said. "They're secretive and they tend to want to move ahead very fast."

Travel TALK

Emily Guettler

THE PHILIPPINES

"It almost felt like I was back home in the States!" That's an often typical reaction of American tourists after they visited the Philippines. That may seem surprising, since the island country is part of Southeast Asia. Yet there are many reasons for that comfortable 'at-home' feeling.

English, for example, is widely and generally spoken. The country has long historical ties to the United States and welcomes tourists. The beach resorts, highways, roads and hotels are all excellent. This combination of familiar and comfortable surroundings in a completely foreign country gives the Philippines a unique charm that is all its own.

Over 7,100 islands comprise this country, but only about 730 of them are inhabited. There are three main divisions of islands. The Luzon group is up north; the Visayan group is generally in the center and the Mindanao group is south. Each of these groups comprise a number of islands.

A prescription for werewolves and other woes

Just desserts

sue willert

Everybody has them. They destroy confidence, shorten tempers, end marriages and turn perfectly nice people into drooling, growling werewolves (or a close proximity thereof).

They are THOSE days. The ones when nothing goes right and the simplest, most ordinary tasks and situations turn into complicated crises of epidemic proportions.

Everybody has had them. The days when a trip to the store takes two hours because the car breaks down due to the lack of a tiny bolt. The dealer can't fix the car because he used all those bolts last week and it will take a day or so to get one from another dealer but the only guy who can authorize the shipment is on funeral leave because his mother's cat died.

And then, of course, the trip to the store wouldn't have been necessary except that the alarm didn't go off this morning because the clock needed batteries, making arriving at work on time an impossibility. The only thing to do was call in and explain that you might be a bit tardy.

Of course, then when you finally do darken the office door, the boss is just leaving for lunch, with one of your best clients whom you forgot you made a lunch date with, and they both give you THAT look.

Then the computer warps into overdrive and begins to perform feats which can only be described as supernatural.

There really is only one way to cope with a day such as that, and that's going into the kitchen and baking something so wonderful that the feeling of pride and accomplishment somewhat mediates the rotten day. Besides, you can then sit in front of the TV and cram whatever it is into your mouth, providing immediate oral gratification of your stress anxiety. Trust me, it works.

Linzer tart

3/4 cup butter
Pinch salt
1 cup honey
2 egg yolks
2 pinches cinnamon
Grated rind of one lemon
1 1/4 cups finely ground almonds OR walnuts
1 3/4 cups flour
Pinch of ground cloves or ginger
2/3 cup dried apricots
2 tablespoons raspberries
3 tablespoons maple syrup
3 tablespoons raspberry liqueur (Chambord)
Butter to grease pan
Graham cracker crumbs to line pan
1 egg yolk

Beat together the butter, salt, honey, egg yolks, cinnamon, cloves or ginger and lemon rind until creamy. Mix the flour and almonds and add a quarter of this to the butter mixture. Knead in the rest of the flour mixture to form a ball of dough. Wrap in foil and chill for 45 minutes. Meanwhile, wash apricots under hot water, dry and rinse. Wash fresh raspberries in cold water, dry and puree. Sieve the puree and mix with the apricots and maple syrup. Bring to a boil in a saucepan and simmer, stirring continuously, until it thickens. Add the Chambord and set aside to cool.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Grease a spring-release quiche pan with butter and line with graham cracker crumbs. Line with 3/4 of the dough to give a 1-inch edge. Prick several times with a fork and cover with the puree. Roll out remaining dough on a lightly floured surface and cut into strips. Place these on the puree to form a lattice design. Press the ends of the strips firmly into the edge and brush with whisked egg yolk. Bake in the center of the oven for about 50 minutes.

Easy as pie

Patience makes perfect for retired local baker

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

When Dorothy Federspiel learned to prepare pies years ago to please her husband, she never expected the delicious desserts would become a new source of income.

After all, pies were once a significant challenge for the Romulus resident.

"I just kept trying recipes," she explained.

Eventually, Federspiel's skills improved, and she felt brave enough to tackle more challenging recipes, such as raspberry-swirl pie. Her husband opted for simpler pastries, however, such as banana- and coconut-cream pies.

An all-time favorite for both was Federspiel's fried pies - a deep-fried, fold-over crust stuffed with a fruit filling.

After her husband died, Federspiel accepted a job at the Belleville-based Brass Bell restaurant.

It was an on-the-job crisis that revealed Federspiel's true talents.

When the restaurant owner forgot to order the frozen pies that were usually served, Federspiel offered to come to the rescue. She did, and, after the restaurant owner tasted her delicate crust and fluffy meringue, the frozen pies became history.

Soon, Federspiel's masterpieces earned a glowing reputation throughout the town.

"They called me the 'pie lady' in Belleville," Federspiel said, smiling proudly.

Recently, Federspiel retired from the restaurant business. But she didn't retire from pie-making.

Now, her friends and neighbors benefit whenever she feels inspired to bake.

Federspiel often offers her years of experience and skill to novice pie-makers, who are still trying to master the perfect pie crust.

Basically, she said, the key to a successful pie is persistence and practice.

"You have to just keep trying. Don't give up. Try recipes until you find what you want," Federspiel advised.

However, Federspiel does have a few secrets. For a fluffy meringue topping, she recommends that the meringue be spread on hot topping immediately after beating. A delay, she explained, causes the meringue to fall.

All of the recipes provided below are Federspiel's old standards. The simple pastries are those most requested by her husband.

Meringue

3 egg whites
1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar
1/2 cup sugar

Beat egg whites at high speed until foamy. Add cream of tartar and beat until the mixture is stiff. One tablespoon at a time, add the sugar, beating after each addition until dissolved. Immediately spread meringue on hot pie filling. Bake until golden brown in a 325-degree oven for approximately 15 minutes.

Basic cream pie

1/2 cup sugar
5 tablespoons corn starch
1 teaspoon salt
3 cups milk
3 egg yolks
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 prepared 8-inch pie crust

Combine sugar, corn starch, salt, milk and egg yolks in sauce pan. Bring to a slow boil. Cook mixture until thick. Stir in butter and vanilla. Pour mixture into prepared pie shell. Top with meringue. Bake until meringue is golden brown in a 325-degree oven (approximately 15 minutes).

For coconut-cream pie: Stir in 3/4 cup shredded coconut along with the butter and vanilla.

For chocolate-cream pie: Stir in 2 ounces of semisweet chocolate pieces or squares and 2 tablespoons sugar. Mix well with thickened cream mixture.

For banana-cream pie: Before pouring cream mixture, line the bottom of the prepared pie shell with slices from 1 or 2 bananas.

▲ Romulus resident Dorothy Federspiel (above) never dreamed the once-difficult task of making pies would become a way of life. Today, she is commonly referred to as 'the pie lady' - the pie lady who can turn a pie shell, meringue and cream into a mouthwatering dessert almost anyone would love. ANP photos by Werner Stocum/staff photographer

In a saucepan, combine sugar, corn starch, flour, water and lemon juice. Bring to a slow boil. Stir constantly to avoid sticking until mixture thickens. Pour mixture into prepared pie shell and top with meringue. Bake in 325-degree oven until meringue is golden brown (approximately 15 minutes).

Basic pie crust

2 1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup lard
Cold water

Sift together flour and salt. With pastry cutter or fork, cut in lard. Add water as necessary to help "hold dough together." Work dough with hands to form a ball. Pat down. Roll out to desired width on floured surface with a rolling pin. Place in greased pie pan. Poke holes in dough with fork to prevent rising. If using for a cream-pie recipe, the crust should be baked in advance at a low temperature until it is light brown in color.

Peanut butter pie

1 prepared 8-inch chocolate crust (May be substituted with graham cracker crust)
4 ounces cream cheese
1/2 cup peanut butter
1 cup powdered sugar
4 ounces whipped topping

Cream together cream cheese, peanut butter and powdered sugar. Pour in prepared pie crust. Add whipped topping. Chill if desired. This is a simple recipe which requires no baking. Beware, however, this is a very rich pie.

Fried pies

6 ounces dried apples, apricots or peaches
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Prepared pie dough (not baked)
Sugar to taste (optional)

Cover dried fruit with water and soak overnight. During the next morning, boil fruit until soft. Add sugar to taste if desired along with 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Roll out pie dough on floured surface. With small saucers, cut dough into circles. Place on tablespoon of the fruit filling on each circle. Fold dough over and seal. In large skillet, place pastries in hot vegetable oil, a few at a time. Brown pastries on both sides for 2 or 3 minutes per side. Drain on paper towels and serve.

Pumpkin pie

9-inch unbaked pie shell
2 tablespoons butter
3/4 cup sugar
3 eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup canned pumpkin (unseasoned)
1 cup evaporated milk

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. In an electric mixer, combine all but first ingredient. Beat well. Pour into unbaked pie shell and bake 10 minutes at 450 degrees, then reduce heat to 325 degrees and continue baking for 45 minutes. Serves 8.

▲ Federspiel is, perhaps, best noted for the fried pies she creates. The treats are her specialty and were one of the favorite desserts of her husband.

Lemon-meringue pie

1 cup sugar
3 tablespoons corn starch
1 tablespoon flour
1 1/2 cups water
Juice from 2 fresh lemons
1 prepared 8-inch pie crust

'Pay to play' is costly

Belleville coach McCarney resigns, Villa is named in 'interim'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

'Pay to Play' has apparently cost Belleville High School the coaching services of veteran head coach Dave McCarney.

McCarney has resigned and left the Van Buren School District to accept a principalship in Kingsport, near Saginaw, according to school officials.

"It's unfortunate to lose a coach and educator of McCarney's caliber," said Michael Colletta, Belleville High athletic director. "But it happens."

"We are trying to fill the gaps as best we can."

Facing a budget deficit due to the voter rejection of a 4-mill tax increase, the Van Buren School Board has approved a policy

We are all looking forward to the upcoming season. It should be an interesting one.

Interim head coach whereby each athlete will pay $250 to play varsity sports this year. The board also will place the tax proposal on the Sept. 15 special election ballot. They said if the voters approve the increase, they will cancel the 'pay to play' policy.

In the meantime, Sam Villa, one of McCarney's assistant coaches, has been named as 'interim' head football coach.

Villa is well known to Belleville and Van Buren athletes and athletics. He played for Belleville in the 1960's, teaming with former All-American and All-Pro linebacker Frank Nunley during the Harry Hidenfelter era.

Hidenfelter coached football and later became athletic director at the high school.

Nunley was an all-stater at Belleville who went on to star for the University of Michigan Wolverines and the San Francisco 49ers.

Involved in the high school football program for more than a decade, Villa said the challenge to field a winning team will be a "great one".

"The league is a traditionally tough one," Villa commented. See INTERIM, page B-5

The first two games last year - and this season - were and will be crucial for defending Suburban Athletic Conference champ, Robichaud. Robichaud dropped a pair of heartbreakers to Saline, 7-6, and to U of D High, 8-6, that helped defeat Coach Bob Yauck and his Bulldogs from the Class B state playoffs. They have rematches with their foes at the top of their '89 schedule, and if the Dearborn Heights gridders want to play in the Silverdome, they'll have to find a way to avenge their 1988 losses. Vikings have 'nowhere to go but up' in football

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Ron Gardner knows what it is like to be a winner.

As a prep at Ypsilanti High and later as a wide receiver in the National Football League where he played for the Cleveland Browns and the New York Giants, he learned to respect those who played the physical and mentally demanding game of football.

Now Gardner has the responsibility of rebuilding a football program at Inkster High. That program, in recent years, has been on the skids. The Vikings have not finished over .500 in the past decade and won only one of nine games a year ago.

The new coach will have his work cut out for him.

Gardner replaces Alonzo Glaze, who resigned after the 1988 campaign to devote more time to his family.

"You know, we have nowhere to go but up," said Gardner as he puts the Vikings through rigid, two-a-day practice sessions. "To commend our school officials and community - we're getting all the cooperation in the world."

Gardner noted that through the efforts of athletic director George Thompson Jr., equip-

After that 1-8 finish a year ago, there is nowhere for us to go but up.

ment for a new weight room was purchased this year, and a press box is being planned.

"When you get community support, that is a giant step in changing losers to winners, and I can say that the staff and I are going to do everything we can to make the school and city proud of this team."

It isn't going to be easy.

With Robichaud, the defending conference champ, and Coach Bob Yauck returning some of its finest players in recent years, and Highland Park loaded in talent and numbers, along with Oak Park and River Rouge ready to challenge for the Suburban Athletic Conference title, that doesn't leave much for the Vikings. If fact, it leaves Willow Run and Ecorse on the SAC schedule.

Is 1989 the 'Year of the Bulldog'?

Many who have followed the ups and downs of Coach Bob Yauck's teams over the past two decades believe so. Prognosticators believe Robichaud has in its 1989 team one of the best, if not the best, team in the school's history.

Yauck, starting his 21st year at Robichaud, came close to making it to the Class B state playoffs a year ago, but was eliminated in the final game of the regular season by Class A power, Bay City John Glenn.

After losing two heartbreakers early in the season, a 7-6 opening day debacle to Saline, and an 8-6 decision to University of Detroit High, Robichaud put together a string of six straight Suburban Conference victories to go undefeated in the SAC and win the title outright. They finished the year with an impressive 6-3 record, however, that wasn't good enough to make the state playoffs.

And they accomplished that with only the part-time services of Tyrone Wheatley, who was sidelined most of the year with an injury. Wheatley, a 6-2, 205 junior running back, is considered one of the finest high school athletes in the state. He set state records in the 100-meter dash and the long jump in the spring.

A healthy Wheatley could put the Westwood School District high school into the Pontiac Silverdome in November. The Sil-verdome is the site of the Michigan High School Athletic Association's state championships.

But Yauck isn't looking ahead to November. He says he and his staff of assistant coaches, Wade Cook, Jeff Flounory and Shelby Johnson, are looking toward their first game.

And that crucial opener is against none other than Saline. The two nonleague opponents are scheduled to meet in the rematch at 7 p.m. Friday, Sept. 1 in Saline. Then, they'll play U of D, again a nonleague game (Sept. 9) at 2 p.m. on the road before opening up the SAC with perennial league doormat, Ecorse.

Yauck sees Highland Park and Oak Park as major threats to the Bulldogs' goal of repeating as league champs.

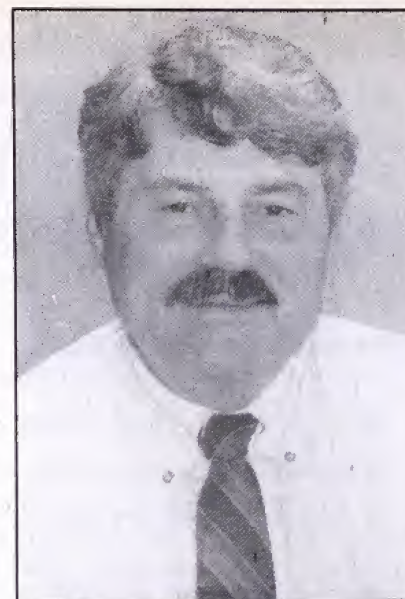

"There are plenty of returning lettermen at Highland Park," Yauck said. "And because of their size (Highland Park is the only Class A team in the SAC), you have to be wary of them. Oak Park also looks decent this year."

And his Bulldogs?

"I believe we will play a role in who will win the championship in 1989," Yauck commented.

And there are plenty of reasons for the veteran coach's optimism. There's Wheatley, who Yauck considers "the finest halfback he has ever coached."

But there are a lot of other prominent players on this team. Like Carl Selman, a 6-1, 205-pound senior guard who switches to linebacking on defense. Selman was all-league and All-Area. He is an excellent All-State candidate. There are center Paul Brannon (6-2, 185), Ernie Baskin, a tested tackle (6-5, 210), and Frederick Matthews, a flanker who will be diffi-

Huron works on winning attitude

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

New Boston Huron has had its problems keeping its grid head above waters in the conference.

And with the departure from the scene of Coach Tom LaBeau, the Chiefs may continue to find themselves struggling in 1989.

But, if 'attitude' counts, then Huron may just find that winning edge.

That's what newly-appointed coach Greg Hammond is counting on.

Hammond, named as the Chiefs' new head coach, inherited a team that posted a 2-7 record a year ago, and all of LaBeau's problems. One of the major problems the Chiefs have had in the past is the lack of available players. There are more uniforms available than bodies.

And when you don't have the players, you usually lose more games than you win.

This year's team is no exception. About 20 players suited up for varsity and if there are any injuries - usually you can count on a few during the course of a nine-game schedule - then survival becomes the name of the game.

"If anyone gets hurt, we will be in deep trouble," said Hammond, who prepped at Flat Rock High, a league affiliate.

Hammond knows his football. He played for Flat Rock in the late 1960's and early 70's before joining Ferris State as a guard.

Hammond is pleased at what he has seen at Huron High so far. "The attitude is great and some of these kids can play with the best of them."

Tough schedule awaits Romulus coach

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Dan Henry, the newly-appointed Romulus High head football coach, knows what it is like to play in a tough league.

In the Catholic League, the former Bishop Borgess coach had to contend with the likes of such state powers as Detroit (now Redford) Catholic Central, Birmingham Brother Rice, Dearborn Divine Child, and Harper Woods Bishop Gallagher.

"The staff and I have always been able to put a competitive team on the field," Henry said. "We've been decent in the past, and, although I know the league we're in now is tough, I see no reason why we can't be competitive in it."

For the record, Romulus has not won a football game since entering the South Central Conference two years ago. Here are four good reasons: Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor Huron, Ann Arbor Pioneer, and Adrian. The SAC has produced state playoff caliber teams since the inception of the MHSAA tournament format in the mid-1970s.

Henry took over from Norb Glover, whose 1988 club posted a 3-6 record.

Recognized as a hard-working, aggressive 'no nonsense' coach, Henry had 26 players reporting out for varsity. Of those 26, eight players have experience.

"We really have about eight kids who saw the field last year," Henry said. "So we have a lot of patching up to do. We're going to have to also change attitudes. Teach these kids that they can be winners, and I believe it can be done or I would not have accepted the position."

Helping Henry to change the program around are assistant coaches Mike Rossi, a former Garden City East grid star, and Dale Evans. Both coaches were on Henry's staff at Borgess. Rounding out the Eagle staff are Dan Stearn and Tracy Cline. Cline is a former

All-Area wrestler-grider from Romulus High.

In that nucleus of eight, Henry has Ebon Smith, a 5-7, 160-pound junior running back who will be difficult to catch once he has his hands on the ball; Virgil Davis, of cage fame who will be utilized as a flanker. Davis, a 5-8, 155-pound senior helped the Eagles win the Class A district basketball title a year ago. Add to the list of returnees the names of Guam Lee, a 'nose guard' who checks in at 6-0, 205-pounds, and a two-way tackle, Tony Calockio, who is 6-1, 205 pounds.

Mark Lewis, also a hefty 6-4, 210-pound tackle, will see more than his share of work as a two-way tackle. Henry also has available senior split end, and free safety, Tim Kosikowski. Kosikowski is one of the finest wrestlers in the state, having recently competed in national invitational tournaments and was a medalist at the state finals a year ago.

Henry said he also is looking to switch Eric Robinson, a 6-1, 185-pound senior from tight end to fullback this year.

The quarterback job will probably go to Chris Jones, who has looked good in practice and has "outworked the rest of the candidates," Henry noted. "Chris also attended the U of M football camp and he's doing a pretty decent job."

But there are a lot of question marks that Henry and his staff need to find answers to in a hurry.

"The numbers are down," Henry said. "And there were some players we were relying on who haven't reported because of work and other reasons."

Henry and his Eagles will receive their first test at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 1 at Taylor

With a new coach aboard and plenty of optimism, the Vikings' stock in the Suburban Athletic Conference has increased twofold. Ron Gardner, a former prep grid star at Ypsilanti who played professional ball for the Cleveland Browns and the New York Giants, has taken over the Vikings as head coach. He'll get his first test Sept. 1 from always tough Saginaw Buena Vista. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

Vikings

And, if they are to step up the SAC ladder, Gardner will have to increase his numbers. Traditionally the lack of numbers has hurt the Vikings.

But the new coach does have some excellent blocks to build upon. One solid performer is quarterback Fred Stevens, a 6-1, 175 pounder who is a double threat. Yes, he can throw and run, but Gardner will have to find some sure hands to catch those bombs.

"But right now, what I am doing is learning to put names to the faces," he said, who isn't ready to reveal the changes or his strategy to make the Vikings a winner.

However, one name that comes quickly to Gardner's mind is that of Will Jones, a 5-8, 165 tailback who has "speed to burn."

"Jones will be one of the keys to our offense," Gardner says. "I have a feeling you'll be hearing a lot about him in the future."

There isn't much time remaining for the Vikings. They have a date to meet nonconference opponent, Saginaw Buena Vista, at 4 p.m. Friday, Sept. 1 on the home turf. That opening game could tell a lot about the 1989 Vikings.

It may be a rebuilding year for Gardner and his staff that includes Victor Calhoun, Walt Smith and Stevie Robinson, but, watch out SAC if the Vikings can find sufficient manpower to carry out Gardner's master plan.

"And we have a lot of work ahead of us."

Belleville, which finished 3-6 a year ago, will open up the 1989 campaign at 4 p.m. Friday, Sept. 1 on the road at Taylor Center. The Tigers have 11 returning letterwinners to help boost their stock in the Wolverine 'A' Conference.

However, Villa sees perennial state powerhouse, Dearborn Fordson, returning to its old glory.

"Off of what people have returning to their teams, Fordson appears to be the team to beat. Then, watch out for Monroe, the defending champ, and Lincoln Park will be strong. Then it's a scramble."

But with multi-talented Jeremy Ison returning to the offensive throttle of the Tigers, Belleville also may surprise a lot of teams.

Ison, who helped the Tigers win their first conference baseball title this spring and was also a member of the conference-winning basketball team, could be the key to Belleville's first football championship in more than two decades.

Belleville has not won a Wolverine grid title since the conference was reorganized eight years ago.

Villa also has a standout athlete as Ison's backup in Todd Yocum, who comes from a family of athletes.

cult to catch thanks to his 5-10, 165 speedy frame. Add to the list of holdovers from last year's championship team the names of split end Shawn Taylor (5-10, 170), and Sonny Cooper, who will be moved from guard to the fullback slot so that the Bulldogs can get more out of his 6-1, 195-pound frame, and you can understand why most SAC coaches agree that the Bulldogs are the team to beat in '89.

Yauck and his staff are looking at Andrew Parham to fill the all-important quarterback spot. Parham brings to the varsity two years experience of reserve warfare and, because he has shown a lot of promise, has the inside track on the starting QB job.

"And I believe that Andy is going to surprise a few people," Yauck said.

There are others, such as Mike Nolan, a 5-11, 258-pound hunk of granite who is a guard-

The interim head coach is looking at Tom Pereces, Chris Zaccaria, John Perry, Jim Wagner and Josh Fisher to fill the running back slots.

Two seniors, Chris Withers and Tom Newhart, are working out at the split end posts while 6-3, 190-pound junior Ron Hunter and sophomore Steve Wygonik (6-0, 180) are available at tight end.

Villa's offensive tackles could develop into the best in the conference, if not the state. Anthony Martinez, who checks in at 6-5, 270-pounds, and Brian Gulliver, a 6-6, 240-pound senior, have all the credentials to get the job done.

And the Tiger guards are solid, thanks to 298-pound, 6-1 Jim McCoy, and 240, 6-1 Jim Smith. Both are seniors. Also working out at guard is 5-8, 222-pounds of solid muscle Walt Ostrowski.

A 6-2, 202-pound center, Joey Wilson, anchors the offensive line.

The Tigers will also be improved defensively thanks to a line-backing corps that includes Hunter, who looks as good as his older brother who made All-Area a year ago, and Steve Wygonik. The Tigers are working on a 5-2 defense which features some speedy ends in Wilson, Pearsey and Khalil Abdullah. In the secondary, Villa will probably go with 6-2 Dave Boyd, Yocum, Withers and Ison.

Depth - the lack of it - concerns Villa.

"We just don't have the numbers this year - it could be because of the 'pay to play' but we really don't know," Villa said. "But, believe me, we are all excited about the upcoming season."

And it should be interesting to see how it all ends.

Truman. Then they will host Garden City for their home opener, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Sept. 8. Then, the Eagles begin their bid for respectability in the SAC, clashing with Adrian

"I want these kids to know that if they work hard, things will happen," Henry said.

Huron

Among the best are Paul Hill, a 5-11, 170-pound senior quarterback who carried the Chiefs to respectability a year ago. Without Hill in the lineup, the Chiefs went nowhere fast on offense.

Hill and his twin brother, Pete, a 6-1, 205 senior fullback, should be able to light up the scoreboard for the Chiefs. Hammond also has all-around athlete Matt Hamilton, a 5-10, 160-pound senior running back, returning to the offensive backfield.

Huron's roster also includes Eddie Mounce, a 5-10, 160-pound hard-hitting fullback, and tight ends David Boike, a 6-0, 190-pound senior, and junior Joe Vitkay, a 6-2, 190-pound junior.

Scott Lowry, a 5-10, 170-pound senior who is seeking status as a starting back, also looks promising. The Chiefs have 6-0, 155-pound junior Dave Taylor working out at split end. Taylor will be used in the quarterback slot when Hill isn't in there.

Hammond is looking at Leroy Wright, a 6-4, 270-pound weightlifter to fill in one of the tackle posts, while Alan Boulifend, a 6-1, 185-pound senior, is at guard, and Mike Barbour, a 6-0, 180-pound senior, is working out at center.

Two others who must contribute to this team in order to improve its won-lost ratio are Chuck Kane, a 5-10, 190-pound senior tackle, and Robert Powell, a guard who is 5-8, 150.

Obviously, with less than 22 players on the varsity roster, Hammond will have to use most of his players both ways. And that usually takes its toll.

New Boston will have the home crowd on hand for its 1989 opener. The Chiefs clash with their traditional opening-day rival, Dearborn Heights Annapolis. The Cougars will be in town at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 1.

Hammond and his staff made up of former Huron grid-ders Jamie Hinojosa, Len Ziegler and Bunky Steadman, will make probably need a major miracle to finish above the .500 mark this year.

But, Hammond says: "If we stay healthy we will surprise a lot of people."

And if they don't - well, it will probably lead to another long one for the Chiefs.

Enjoying their last swimming strokes of the summer at the Municipal Swim Pool, these kids are obviously making the most of the remaining days of August. School officials on Monday began registering students for the 1989-90 school year. Although upper classmen (seniors and juniors) were to sign up on Monday and Tuesday, Inkster High freshmen are asked to register from 9 to 11 a.m. today. New students to the district may register at 11 a.m. on Friday. ANP photo by Werner Slocum/staff photographer

ST. JUDE

Oh Holy St. Jude Apostle and Martyr, great in Virtue and rich in miracles, near kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depth of my heart and humbly beg to whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present urgent position. In return, I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. Say three Our Fathers, three Hail Mary's and Glories. Publication must be promised. St. Jude, pray for us all who invoke your aid. Amen. This Novena has never been known to fail. This Novena must be said for 9 consecutive days. M.L.N.

The Life of A Dreamer

Some people call me a dreamer and say I walk with my head to the sky and my reasons for being a dreamer - no one has asked my why. So people just assume that's all I'll ever be - with my head to the sky and my mind washed in the sea. In the life of a dreamer, that's all that's left to be and in the world of this dreamer, all I have is love.
